

Wishing you all a very Happy New Year and hoping 2023 gives you everything you want.

My apologies for being so late in sending out my usual list of previews. A hectic fortnight. So here is a very brief list of my recommendations up to the end of the month.

Saturday 14th January at 5.55pm in La Scala Cinema in Eden Court. LIVE from The Met in New York. Giordano's Fedora. A new production with all the famous tunes and show stopping arias.

Saturday 14th January at 7.30pm in Nairn Community and Arts Centre. Music Nairn welcomes the Navarra Quartet to play music by Mozart, Szymanowski and Brahms.

Thursday 19th January at 7.15pm and Sunday 22nd at 2.00pm in La Scala Cinema Eden Court. Like Water For Chocolate. A modern Mexican classic for the Royal Ballet.

Saturday 21st January at 3.00pm in Inverness Cathedral. "Music for Voices" by the Musick Fyne Soloists directed by D James Ross. Part of the Saturday Cake and Concert Series.

Wednesday 25th to Saturday 28th January. Various times. Eden Court Empire Theatre. Scottish Ballet - The Snow Queen. A memorable high for Scottish Ballet. You might be lucky to find a seat.

Thursday 26th January at 7.30pm in the Crown Church. musicinverness welcomes the Perseus Duo (violin and piano) for this Tunnell Trust supported concert.

Monday 30th January at 7.30pm in Inverness Town House. Inverness Piano Recitals. Yuanfan Yang who will play music by Mozart, Faure, Brahms, Ravel, Yang and Chopin with some improvisations.

See you around, enjoying what you go to.

Best Wishes

James
